U.S. Census Bureau Estimates for Age, Vintage 2022

Each year, the Census Bureau produces population estimates at varying levels of geography. The age, sex, race, and Hispanic origin estimates at the national, state, and county levels are the final release of the 2022 vintage estimate package. Prior releases include national, state, county, metropolitan/micropolitan, and incorporated place (cities and towns) estimates. These releases include annual estimates from July 1, 2021, to July 1, 2022. Two fact sheets detail findings from this expansive, final estimates release: one for race and Hispanic origin and one for age.

National Picture and Utah in the National Context

This release highlights increases in the nation's median age, which increased by 0.2 years between 2021 and 2022 to reach the current median age of 38.9. One-third of U.S. states had a median age above 40.0 in 2022, with the highest median ages seen in Maine (44.8) and New Hampshire (43.3), and the lowest median ages found in Utah (31.9), Washington D.C. (34.8), and Texas (35.5).

Every U.S. state experienced either an increase or no change in median age between 2021 and 2022. Hawaii had the largest increase, adding 0.4 years to reach a 2022 median age of 40.7. Utah's median age increased 0.2 years between 2021 and 2022, from 31.7 to 31.9. Four states - Alabama (39.4), Maine (44.8), Tennessee (39.1), West Virginia (42.8), and Washington D.C. (34.8) - had no change in their median age.

Age in Utah

National trends of an aging population and decreasing fertility rates are also occurring in Utah. An increasing median age, decreasing population under age 13 , and a $3.8 \%$ increase in the population age 65 and over provide evidence of these changes at the state level. Utah's fastest-growing age group- the population over 65, which grew 3.8\% between 2021 and 2022, reflects the state's aging population. In 2022, the population aged 25 to 44 represented the largest share of Utah's population at $28.5 \%$, followed closely by the population under 18 (27.6\%).

Age in Utah Counties

At least one in five residents is 65 years or older in eight Utah counties: Piute (29.3\%), Daggett (26.5\%), Garfield (24.0\%), Kane (23.6\%), Wayne (23.1\%), Washington (22.4\%), Grand (20.6\%), and Rich (20.5\%). Two Utah counties have less than $10 \%$ of the population age 65 or older:Tooele (9.4\%) and Utah (8.0\%). The 65 or older population increased by more than $5 \%$ in ten counties (Rich, Daggett, Wasatch, Beaver, Iron, Summit, Duchesne, Tooele, Uintah, and Wayne).

Fourteen counties experienced decreases in the population under age 5 between 2021 and 2022. Rich County's under 5 population decreased by $7.9 \%$. In this age group, only one other county experienced an annual decline of over 5\%: Wasatch County ( $-5.3 \%$ ). Of the 15 counties that experienced annual increases in the population under age 5, three small counties had the fastest changes. An increase of 16 residents under age 5 resulted in a $22.2 \%$ increase in Piute County, with two other counties experiencing an annual increase above 5\% - Daggett (6.8\% or 3 residents) and Juab ( $5.5 \%$ or 55 residents).

Age by Race and Hispanic Origin in Utah

While one in five Utah adults identify as a racial or ethnic minority, this share increases to over one in four (28.6\%) for the population under age 18. At the state level, $6.9 \%$ of the population is under age 5 . In the non-Hispanic White and nonHispanic American Indian or Alaskan Native populations, the share of residents under age 5 is lower than this state average.

The non-Hispanic Two or More Races and Hispanic or Latino populations have the largest shares of children under 5, at 14.1\% and $10.3 \%$, respectively. The non-Hispanic White population has the largest share of people over age 65 at $13.9 \%$, followed by the non-Hispanic Asian population (9.6\%), and the non-Hispanic American Indian or Alaska Native population (9.2\%).
